U.S. Senator Gets Caught Lying About The Bible

Since president Trump eliminated Obama's DACA amnesty scheme two weeks ago, one Senator got caught lying about the Bible in his hopes to advance open borders.

Florida's Marco Rubio was one of the ring leaders of the 2013 Gang of Eight amnesty scheme. Since the DACA amnesty scheme was done away with, establishment members of Congress, business leaders, celebrities, and the amnesty lobby all turned up the heat to press the Trump administration to back down, which they haven't done.

Though a massive grassroots uprising was an early sign that Rubio's Presidential ambitions were doomed, he hasn't given up on the idea of granting amnesty to millions of illegal aliens. When Trump planned to rollout his decision rescinding Obama's illegal DACA amnesty, Rubio took to social media to jab the President and criticized the decision as un-Christian. To "prop up" his argument, Rubio cited a verse from the Book of Matthew to claim the Bible supports open borders:

"For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me."

Matt. 25:35

Obviously, Rubio and his pro-amnesty group is using "selective interpretations" of Scripture to support their position, while ignoring parts of the Bible that support national sovereignty. This isn't the first time that politicians "use" Scripture, trying to give themselves credibility before the unknowing public.

They need to be careful; Scripture can be used to their own destruction! The passage cited deals with the Judgment of Nations, one of the seven judgments found in Scripture, and how the Gentile nations of the world has treated the nation of Israel.

We Cannot Do Without Our Missionaries

Greg & Linda Waller Medical Missions to Third World Nations Reaching The Most Remote Areas

The Waller's home residence is in Valley Center, Ks. With the backing of pharmaceutical companies, supplying medicines, he and several other doctors go to areas where there are no doctors, clinics, or medicines, and treat give treatment free of charge. The one stipulation is that they have the freedom to give out the gospel, and directed patients to an established church, or to start a church.

"Our August trip to Panama was amazing and very much a success for us and for the newly started church we were working with. Our team size for the trip was 19...just what we needed. With more volunteers we are able to treat more patients with medical help, and also with the gospel.

Going through customs is sometimes frustrating. A customs official said, "Open the bag!" This is a big hassle and involved more time in getting through, but you do what you are told. I was trying to get my glasses out of my pocket and they became entangled with all the thread at the bottom. After a few struggles, the official got tired and said, "Oh, just go on through."

When we went to the rental agency at the airport, they gave us keys for only two vans, but we had reserved three...we even had receipts for three. Somehow it wasn't on their computer, so we made do with just two, which is hard to do when we had over 50 pieces of luggage.

In all, we treated 1551 patients; 929 for glasses and 622 for medicine. Linda and her pharmacy helpers filled 1881 prescriptions. Our soul winning team reported 464 who accepted Christ during our four day clinic. They were all directed to the local church which is a ministry of missionary Byron Willis. They are in charge of all follow-up. Please pray for our up-coming trip to Cambodia. Total of six going.
